II. Basis for Jurisdiction

Federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction (limited power). Generally, only two types of cases can be heard in federal court: cases involving a federal question and cases involving diversity of citizenship of the parties. Under 28 U.S.C. § 1331, a case arising under the United States Constitution or federal laws or treaties is a federal question case. Under 28 U.S.C. § 1332, a case in which a citizen of one State sues a citizen of another State or nation and the amount at stake is more than $75,000 is a diversity of citizenship case. In a diversity of citizenship case, no defendant may be a citizen of the same State as any plaintiff.

[This is a plain language summary of the stalking statutes. For the complete text, see AS 11.41.260-270.]

"Stalking" means that the respondent made "nonconsensual contact" with you two or more times, and that these contacts made you reasonably afraid of death or physical injury, or the death or physical injury of a family member.

"Contact" includes many things (not all of them are listed here). Examples are: calling you, messaging you on social media, following you, going onto your property, leaving objects for you, tracking you with GPS, hacking your phone

"Nonconsensual" contact means:

- Contact that you did not specifically agree to, or is not reasonable under generally accepted social norms
- Contact that you agreed to at first, but it continued after you told the respondent you no longer wanted it
- Contact that goes beyond what you agreed to

Note: If there is back-and-forth conversation or argument between you and the respondent, it is usually not considered nonconsensual contact, even if the conversation is negative
